Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.It was the change of the millennium, 31 December 1999 combined with and reaching over to 1 January 2000. I was about 100 miles east of Bogota, Colombia, in the Andes Mountains, on the side of a mountain. I ve often wondered how many careers were destroyed-or should ve been. If you remember back then we were involved in the Y2K mania/pandemonium. We were frightened ablaze to death that security systems weren t going to work, that airplanes would lose their navigation systems mid-flight, and that Star Wars was going to KABOOM! And that even our personal laptops wouldn t work. Like all good Latinos, we, of course, celebrated well and brought in the New Year. And in the morning, I woke about 7 am when my eyes popped open. I go to the front porch where the mountain Eastern sun is shining in full glory. There s a chair I sit myself down in and - I m in flow! Very cool location, after all, on a pretty cool day. And I m writing a little poetry to my beloved - who I m there with! And my laptop s working perfectly fine. Hmm. There is no radio at that remote distance, no internet, no cell service. We didn t know if the rest of the world existed or not. Of course I had my suspicions it did, though I wasn t to find out for sure until we got back on the road and in touch with radio signals. Wow, okay, so we go from writing poetry to crashing 747 s all in the same change of the year, all in the same threat. Interesting how...
